

Job Trailers

This safe and convenient storage method keeps your job materials under lock and key. It provides security so you'll always know where your products are, precisely when you need them.

Werner job trailers make it easy for you to access your inventory. Products are in the same central location every time. They're no longer disrupting your work day by getting in your way or the way of other contractors. You also have the convenience of keeping all your supplies in one place instead of moving them around because of space limitations.

A trailer is perfect for keeping materials safe from harsh elements. Neither wind nor rain nor snow can create problems for your daily routine. Each trailer includes interior lighting, receptacles and a plan table.

Your trailer will be delivered to your job site, complete with your initial order. Your Werner sales representative will check your inventory and bin locate it on the storage shelves. Once the inventory is checked in you will be given a key so you can access your product at any time.

If for any reason you need product right away, orders may be placed at any time. Simply call your local Werner Electric Supply representative!. Werner Electric's fleet of delivery vehicles is capable of regular and special deliveries to your job site.
